Some things are just too convenient to be a coincidence, like being named Wolff or Birdsall and also being a talented folk musician. Winterlings is one such folk duo comprised of individuals with animalistic names; Wolff Bowden and Amanda Birdsall. With names like that it's no surprise that they can serve up some amazing folk music, and if you don't believe me you can go see for yourself at Googie's Lounge on Oct. 22. 10:30 p.m
